

Variable Tuition and Tuition Assistance

An investment in Catholic education is an investment in your child's future. We understand it is a decision families do not take lightly and encourage you to inquire about tuition assistance, if needed.

- Along with the Archdiocese of Denver, our school offers variable tuition rates and scholarships for families who qualify. For more information on variable tuition and available scholarships, please see the Archdiocese of Denver's Office of Catholic School's website:
<https://denvercatholicschools.com/why-catholic-education/affordability/>
 - Variable tuition allows a family to qualify for a reduced tuition based on the family's annual household income. You must apply for variable tuition. Please see the link above.
 - Additional scholarships, including the Seeds of Hope scholarship and the ACE Scholarship, are also available and based on a family's annual household income. Income limits and application links can be found using the link above.

 - Any family who completes a variable tuition application and is income-eligible for a Seeds of Hope "Hope Scholarship" is automatically applied and does not have to complete a separate Seeds of Hope application. Families will have to complete a separate application to other scholarship organizations they may be eligible to receive assistance from, such as ACE Scholarships and the Schmitz Family Foundation.
 - Families must apply for variable tuition and scholarships annually.
 - Our school has also teamed up with the Saint Amelia Education Guild, a Catholic non-profit organization that helps families meet the cost of Catholic education and experiences. Please view the Saint Amelia Education Guild website for more information on how serving your community can lower your educational costs: <https://saintamelia.org>
 - It is a part of our school mission to support every family who seeks a Catholic education for their children. If your family needs assistance outside of what is available from variable tuition and scholarships, please reach out directly to our Principal, Mrs. Ellis at dellis@stannescatholic.com
